Write as if your life depends on it.... because it does!

To be a successful as a doctoral student or new academic, you must juggle multiple roles:
• Researcher/Author
• Student/Teacher
• Service provider, and
• Someone with a life*
  *optional

One key to “survival” is leveraging various responsibilities and opportunities to serve multiple purposes, e.g., aligning course assignments with a research project.

Scholarly writing is most often a solitary task, but it doesn’t have to be that way.

Professor Dick Clark

Publication Hierarchy

- Refereed journals
  - Print
  - Online
- Original books
- Edited books
- Other periodicals
- Book chapters
- Refereed conference papers
- Newsletters
- Blogs

Both Dr. Inken Gast and Dr. Binbin Zhang published RER papers as doctoral students!

Writing Opportunities

- Be actively involved in professional associations like AECT.
- Work with a mentor.
- Form a research and writing group.

Article-Based Dissertation is a great option.

- Theoretical Framework Paper
- Literature Review Paper
- Research Study Papers
- Practitioner Paper

Publishing Educational Design Research