

Event Details Log on for live and on-demand presentations with interactive discussions

<http://www.global-symposium.com>
<http://mobile.goodwin.drexel.edu/govirtual>

March 1st - 23rd: Blogs, On demand Presentations, Online Workshops
 March 23rd: Live Video Keynote
 March 24th-25th: Live Video Panel Discussions

Keynote Presentations by:

Dr. Curt Bonk - Indiana University, United States
 Author of The World is Open
<http://mypage.iu.edu/~cjbbonk/>

Philip Karp - World Bank Institute, Asia
 Regional Coordinator for East Asia and the Pacific
www.gdln.org

22 Presentations Online. Some Include...

Alan Greenberg

Mathematics on a Digital Napkin: Jörn Loviscach Professor of technical mathematics and computer engineering Fachhochschule Bielefeld (University of Applied Sciences), Germany

Augmented Reality in a Corporate Learning Environment: Cynthia Cavalli, New Development Lead & Lorrie Sivich, Manufacturing Systems and Simulation Lead, Boeing, USA

Joern Loviscach

Tele-Learning Center Based Community Colleges for Small Towns and Rural Development: Minghua Li, East China Normal University, Shanghai, China

Social Presence in Online Mentoring: Implications for Cross-Cultural Mentoring in Global Organizations: Rajashi Ghosh, PhD, Drexel University School of Education, USA

Ellen Clay

Educating for the Unknown: Build Collaborative Learning Community through Networked Technologies: Qin Jiang Higley, PhD, Asian Projects Manager, WIDE World, Harvard Graduate School of Education, USA

Preparing Students for the Cognitive and Meta-cognitive Demands of Online Learning: John E. McEneaney, Ph.D., Professor of Education, Oakland University, USA

Learning Mathematics: Knowledge for Teaching in Today's Diverse Classrooms: Ellen Clay, Ph.D, Drexel University School of Education, USA

John E. McEneaney

Examining Faculty Use of Social Networking in Teaching and Community Building: Baiyun Chen, PhD, Instructional Designer University of Central Florida.

Critical Success Factors for Building Distance Education Programs: Alan Greenberg, Senior Analyst & Partner, Wainhouse Research, LLC

Presented By:

Sponsored By:

<http://www.global-symposium.com>
<http://mobile.goodwin.drexel.edu/govirtual>

Log on for live and on-demand presentations with interactive discussions